Boston 1836

Dear Deborah

I have hardly a moment to write. Our meeting was adjourned till to day on account of the weather, but I hardly think it will be much better. I wish we could have a pleasant day. Maria's report has been read and accepted by the board I want you to see it very much. I have got to go and see Mrs John Tyler to come to the meeting. Did you know that Pat had killed a man he did not indend to do it but did it in self defence he is now waiting his trial for Murda This letter is very disjointed but you may make it out. Emma is not in town. Our sewing circle goes on finely. we do a great deal of work write to me if you can find time. Waren is on his high horse for he is expecting to be called upon to answer to Pat's good charicter when the trial comes on. yours very truly Lucia Weston
